

•• Engineering
•• Surveying

CivilArts has been delivering high quality solutions for land and site development to Colorado's Front Range since 1994.

With a goal of providing a wide range of complementary services under one roof to a large and diverse clientele, CivilArts provides comprehensive civil engineering, land surveying, planning support, and construction support services with the resources and experience to handle large and complex projects.

With a combination of industry-leading professionals, impeccable service, and state-of-the-art hardware and software, we have a track record of successful projects and repeat clients.

While CivilArts routinely provides traditional engineering services, we also provide development consulting and innovative solutions to save costs, enhance marketability, and to protect the environment. CivilArts is an industry leader in sustainability and green development practices and provides designs geared to LEED certification.

The company is generating designs using AutoCad Civil3D fully compatible with BIM & IPM conventions.

CivilArts is committed to the practice of Sustainable & Low Impact Design.

